

STATE CAPITOL NEWS

By MELVIN LORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, April 30—(UP)—Substantial increases in the state's income from gasoline and beer and wine taxes were reported by the state board of equalization for last month.

The gasoline tax amounted to $4,404,051 for the month a figure surpassed only once in the history of the tax in California, and 36 per cent above the income from this source in March, 1935.

The beer and wine levy for the month jumped from $108,486 last year to $152,736. Board members attributed this comparative increase mainly to the gradual elimination of the bootlegger from the liquor business.

Not for many years has a scheduled hanging been interrupted so near the actual hour of execution as in the cases of Alexander MacKay and Joseph Kristy who were granted 30-day reprieves by Gov. Frank F. Merriam only 47 minutes before they were due to step on the gallows of San Quentin prison.

The delay finally was granted mainly because of the intervention of the British government on behalf of MacKay, a British subject. Telegrams flew thick and fast between governmental officials and a final message from Cordell Hull, United States secretary of state, was responsible mainly for Merriam's action.

The two men are under death sentence for their participation in a prison break in which the state prison board was kidnapped.

California voters will have 11,708 precincts in which to cast their ballots at the May 5 presidential primary, according to an announcement by Frank C. Jordan, secretary of state.

Reports of lax methods used by board of equalization employees in the collection of liquor and sales taxes will be investigated by the special legislative investigating committee headed by Assemblyman Leon M. Donihue when the group meets in Long Beach next month.

Donihue said reports had reached the committee that some retailers were not paying a tax commensurate with their sales.

District Attorney Otis D. Babcock of Sacramento county has reopened his investigation of the possibility California banks may owe the state as much as $70,000 interest for public funds put out on deposit by the state treasurer.

A. E. Stockburger, director of finance, insisted that the question was highly technical and should be settled by the courts. He said banks had assured him they would pay whatever interest was necessary after a final interpretation of the law was available.

Still another proposition for the general election ballot next November loomed as a possibility after a campaign got under way here to obtain signatures on a petition to qualify a proposal calling for repeal of the state's controversial criminal syndicalism law.

Woman Driver Sentenced To Jail For Reckless Driving

Mrs. Dick Ellis was arrested by Traffic Officer C. E. McKeen on Tuesday evening charged with reckless driving, when the coupe she was driving crashed into a west bound over truck driven by Roy Hasslett of Reno at the Hobart Railroad crossing on the Reno Highway.

The car was owned by Geno Berchtold of Hayward, who picked up Mrs. Ellis and her companion Idell Momurty, who were hitchhiking, and drove them to Truckee. They spent sometime in town and when they started for Reno, Mrs. Ellis insisted on driving. When near the railroad crossing she lost control of the car and crashed into the truck. Mrs. Momurty received injuries while Berchtold and the truck driver were about the forehead and nose. Mrs. Ellis was given a hearing before Judge C. E. Smith and fined $100 or 30 days in jail. Being unable to pay the fine she was taken to the county jail at Nevada City to serve the sentence.

FISHING SEASON OPENS FRIDAY

Prospects Are For Good Bait Fishing As Lower Water Prevails in Truckee River

On Friday, May 1st, the opening of the fishing season will start in this vicinity. The warm weather that has prevailed for the past few weeks raised the Truckee River to rather high levels and made the prospects of good fishing on opening day doubtful. However, the past few days of stormy weather and continued cold, has lowered the river considerably and good bait fishing is expected by the experienced fishermen of the vicinity. Whether it will be possible to procure the limits, as some are in the practice of doing on opening day, is open to debate.

The Truckee River is expected to be the mecca for hundreds of fishermen on opening day. Reservations are already being received by the hotels for fishermen from out of town who are always on hand for the opening of the season on the Truckee River.

The Truckee River and its tributaries, Lake Tahoe and Donner Lake will be open, as will the following creeks, Donner, Martis, Prosser, Squaw, Deer, Bear, Juniper and Sagehen, which is open this year for the first time in many years. Cold Stream a tributary of Donner Creek and the Little Truckee will also be open.

As a part of its regular policy of closing certain streams and lakes to permit the restocking of game fish, the state fish and game commission announced that the following would be closed to trout fishing this year in this county and adjacent counties:

ALPINE COUNTY: Silver King Creek and tributaries above Llewellyn Falls. Upper Blue Lake (sometimes called West Blue Lake) and tributaries.

East and West Carson rivers, and all tributaries, from the California-Nevada state boundary line to their headwaters, closed to and including May 29.

EL DORADO COUNTY: Lake Margaret and all tributaries to said lake.

That section of the South Fork of American River from the Chute Camp Dam, near the mouth of Slab Creek, to the mouth of Silver Creek, Strawberry Creek from its junction with the South Fork of American River to its head, and all tributaries of said stream (including Cody Creek and Cody Lake).

Cup and Gelo Lakes.

Taylor, Trout and Cold creeks and all their tributaries.

Upper Truckee River below the bridge on the Luther Pass Highway to Lake Tahoe and all tributaries to that portion. These streams are tributaries to Lake Tahoe.

PLUMAS COUNTY: Hamilton Branch of Feather River from the iron bridge located three-fourths of a mile above the Red River hydro-electric plant to the mouth of said river and thence all of that portion of Lake Almanor within a radius of 300 feet of said mouth.

All streams and their tributaries flowing into Bucks Lake, and all those portions of Bucks Lake contained within a radius of 300 feet from the mouths of each of these streams flowing into said lake, to be closed from May 1 to June 30, both dates inclusive, and from October 1 to October 31, both dates inclusive.

Bucks Lake, Lower Bucks Lake and Thompson Lake and all their tributaries to be closed from October 1 to October 31, both dates inclusive.

Mud Creek from the causeway crossing of the Chester-Susanville State Highway to its head; and all tributaries of that portion of said creek.

All streams flowing into Grass, Jamison, Smith and Long lakes for a distance of 2000 feet upstream from their mouths and all streams flowing out of said lakes for a distance of 2000 feet below said lakes and all that portion of the above

DEMOCRATS SHOULD UNITE BEHIND ROOSEVELT SLATE . . .

The voters of this region who are registered as Democrats will have the choice of voting for one of three tickets in the presidential primary election to be held on Tuesday, May 5th.

One of these tickets, headed by Senator Wm. G. McAdoo, is pledged to vote for the renomination of President Roosevelt. This ticket has the approval of the president himself. It is the only one that stands behind the president without reservation or condition.

The other two tickets are pledged to vote for other candidates at the convention on the first ballot. They will swing over to the president on the second ballot they state.

It is extremely unlikely that there will be a second ballot, and the Democrats who are loyal to the president should vote for the delegation who will vote for the president on the first ballot. Their undivided loyalty to the president can be expressed in no other way.

The voters of the region should support the ticket headed by Senator William G. McAdoo, who are pledged to support President Roosevelt on the first ballot.

lakes within a radius of 300 feet of their inlets and outlets will be closed until July 1 and will be closed after September 30.

Grass, Jamison, Smith and Long lakes to be closed after September 30. All these lakes are located in the Mt. Elwell section near Blairsden.

SIERRA COUNTY: All streams flowing into Gold Lake for a distance of 2000 feet upstream from their mouths and all streams flowing out of said lake for a distance of 2000 feet below said lake and all that portion of the above lake within a radius of 300 feet of their inlets and outlets will be closed until July 1, and will be closed after September 30.

Public Schools Program Was Well Attended

The Public School Program brought out a large attendance at the Masonic Hall on Tuesday evening which is sponsored each year by the Truckee lodge of Masons. G. E. Hofmann was in charge of the arrangements.

J. A. Burkman, state college adviser, of the Department of Education for the state was the speaker of the evening and gave a most interesting talk on issues pertaining to education.

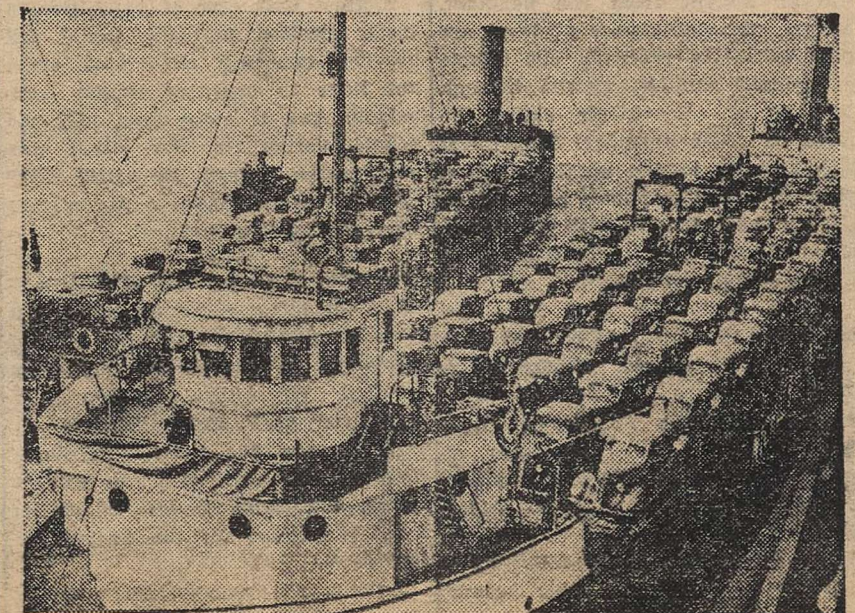

The orchestra of the Meadow Lake Union High Schools played several selections. The freshmen and sophomore classes of the high school presented a play entitled "Almost Every Man" and playlets "Little Ugly Face" and "The Pool of the Willful Princess" were presented by the grammar school classes. Group singing and selections by a harmonica class completed the program.

Construction On School To Start Monday

C. C. Peterson of the firm of H. L. Petersen, San Francisco contractors, who were awarded the contract for erection of the new grammar school building arrived in town on Wednesday and is making arrangements to start construction work. L. C. Larsen, who will be the foreman in charge of the erection of the school building for H. L. Petersen, accompanied Mr. Peterson.

Mr. Peterson and Mr. Larsen will be engaged this week on preliminary work and actual construction is expected to start on Monday morning.

O. E. Carr, state engineer inspector for the PWA will arrive shortly and give his final approval of the work and supervise the work of construction of the building for the PWA.

Mr. Peterson has expressed himself as well pleased with the work the Truckee Outing Club under the direction of C. Edmunds has done in clearing the ground preparatory to construction work by his firm.

Local men will be hired by Mr. Peterson as far as possible. All those desiring work should get in touch with Jerry Delaney, who is manager of the Nevada County office of the NRS and whose office is in Grass Valley. Mr. Delaney will be requested, however, to make arrangements for a place in town where men desiring work may register.

Sanitary District Project Now Completed

The project of the Truckee Sanitary District was completed last week. This project consisted of replacing the old six inch sewer pipe with new eight inch pipe along East River Street and west of the bridge on the Brockway Highway on Riverside Drive.

A total of 2,081 feet of the new pipe has been laid since the work started, 581 feet more than was originally expected to be completed when the work was started.

In 1934 under a CWA project, 107 feet was laid, in 1935 under SERRA, 1206 feet were laid and 768 feet under WPA in 1936.

The Sanitary Board state that this work has already saved the taxpayers a considerable amount of money in repair bills.

The Sanitary Board have had Charles Cabona in charge of the work and they commend him highly for his supervision and perseverance in bringing the work to a successful conclusion. There have been no accidents of any consequence during the entire project.

Cabona and the men who have been working on this project have been transferred to the ice palace project.

Mr. Green plans many changes for the new store and plans to add several new lines to the stock. Mr. Green is enthusiastic about this region and feels that there is a good opportunity for the type of a store he contemplates operating.

Mrs. Green and daughter have joined Mr. Green and the family will establish a home here at once.

Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Guthridge of Oakland are visiting in town for several days. Mrs. Elvira Rosarini who has been visiting them several weeks has returned to her home.

State Leaders Say Only Way To Endorse the Progressive Policies of the President Is to Vote for the Convention Delegation

Only by electing a convention delegation at the primary election on Tuesday, May 5, pledged unqualifiedly to President Roosevelt can the Democrats of California endorse the progressive and humanitarian policies of our president, is the opinion of the leading Democrats of the state.

They stress the fact that since only the state of delegates headed by United States Senator William Gibbs McAdoo is pledged to President Roosevelt, votes cast for other delegates in the primary election would constitute in effect a repudiation of the president's policies.

The state president of the Young Democratic Clubs of California declares that in all probability President Roosevelt will be nominated on the first ballot and for that reason it is essential that the California Democrats be among those endorsing him. He further states:

It is essential to send the president's own delegation to the convention, if California is to be recorded for Roosevelt. The party as a whole favors the renomination of our president, who we all know will win on the first ballot. We cannot send people to Philadelphia to vote for the president on the second ballot or on any if-and-when basis, because there will not be a second ballot. There should be no question regarding our loyalty to our great leader.

William Malone, San Francisco attorney states:

"I favor the election of the Roosevelt ticket of delegates headed by Senator McAdoo because these delegates alone have signified their intention of supporting the president wholeheartedly and voting for him on every ballot at the convention."

"The renomination of President Roosevelt is the paramount issue before the Democrats of California today, and for that reason a vote for either of the opposition groups of delegates would becloud the issue."

"It could only be construed by the president's enemies as a weakening of his popularity in California. The renomination of President Roosevelt is of such supreme importance, not only to the people of California but also to the people of the entire country that all local issues and petty bickerings should be forgotten."

"Therefore, the Democrats of California should be united in behalf of their great leader on every ballot that is cast for him at the convention. None of them should betray a lack of confidence in him by lagging behind on the first or any other ballot."

Murle C. Shreck, secretary of the Democratic State Central Committee predicts that many Democrats who have been interested in the Townsend and EPIC movements will line up with the Democratic regulars on election day and vote for the delegates endorsed by the president.

WRECKING OF SCHOOL BUILDING COMPLETED

Work was completed today on the demolishing of the old grammar school building on Church Street.

The Truckee Outing Club purchased from the school trustees, the old building for the sum of $25.00. The materials salvaged from the building will be used in the ice palace and for the erecting of ski huts and other projects that the Outing Club are interested in.

The work of demolishing the building has taken about three weeks, and much excellent material was salvaged from the building.

The Truckee Lions Club will hold an inter city meeting with the Sparks Den at Sparks next Wednesday evening.

SAFETY CAMPAIGN LAUDED

Any measure designed to reduce the appalling highway traffic toll deserves fullest consideration, in the opinion of many California editors.

Whether it be separate roads for heavy trucks of more stringent penalties for reckless drivers, some means of insuring greater safety on the state's highways must be found, it was agreed.

"While the plan for a separate road for trucks has much to commend it," said the Santa Cruz News, "the fact must never be lost sight of that there are many uncompleted main highways in California that call for first consideration when gasoline tax money is allocated. Pending separate highways for trucks, they should not be allowed to monopolize the right of way on the highways as so frequently they do. Hours should be fixed for them that they should not hold up general automobile traffic in the busiest periods."

"Maybe that (the separate truck highway) will be the solution," notes the Oroville Mercury-Register. "We don't know. We see no reason however, why it should not be tried. Certainly the experiment would be worth while. Then we can take our time to decide whether to extend the separate truck-rout system, whether to widen our highways for them, reserving certain lanes, or whether some other plan would be best."

"We hope," remarks the Tulare Advance Register, "that before the state determines to spend a vast amount of money on new and separate highways it will improve those now existing by dividing traffic with a center barrier. Highway accidents could be reduced 90 per cent on all four-lane roads by a small center barrier. They will never be reduced appreciably until the flow of traffic in opposite directions is separated to eliminate head-on collisions, no matter how many entirely new highways are constructed."

California officials, according to the Salinas Index-Journal "apparently mean business in their drive to curb reckless driving and change state highways into thoroughfares where you can take your family driving without half-expecting to meet death in a shower of broken glass and crumpled metal. Ray Ingels, state director of motor vehicles, explained a new system whereby an accurate check will be kept on all drivers who are involved in traffic infractions of every kind. One advantage of the new system, it was pointed out, will be the impossibility of "fixing" tickets, as the new cards will not be citations and will not come before the minor courts."

"The offending driver," explains the Hanford Sentinel, "will be given a 'ticket' a duplicate of which is kept by the officer making the citation and a triplicate of which will go to the motor vehicle department at Sacramento for filing. After any driver has received three such cards his license will be revoked and he will be called to the state capitol to undergo a test as to his fitness to guide a car in traffic. It is hoped that the new system will work. It is worth a trial, anyway."

Voluntary elimination of Sunday truck traffic, in the opinion of the San Rafael Independent, "may bring about the end to much of the opposition of motorists to the use which is being made of the highways by heavy trucks engaged in what the average motorist believes is freighting that should be kept on the rails. No doubt the owners of truck fleets and many independents will join in the move to prolong an existence that is now threatened, due to the constant growing opposition of angered motorists."

SUPPORT FOR G-MEN

If Congress heeds public opinion, it will give the federal "G-Men" the money they need. There is no government bureau that has more clearly proven its effectiveness, possibly none that gives more value for the money spent.

This is not a demand for lavish spending. J. Edgar Hoover, the brilliant head of the Bureau of Identification of the Department of Justice, asked for $6,025,000. The House granted it, but a Senate committee started cutting it down. One senator accused Mr. Hoover of "just running wild." Hoover explained that an unprecedented crime wave, along with several new crime laws enacted by Congress—the kidnapping, extortion, bank-robbing, fugitive and stolen property laws, and others—had greatly increased the bureau's work.

It is a praiseworthy thing to save money, but not at the cost of public safety. There must be other departments and bureaus where the same amount, or more, can be saved without loss of essential services.

SKY OVER THE DESERT

To experience the sky one must be alone—on a mountain top. Alone and still! One does not sing or shout, for the mountain silences must be respected, and echoes are commanded but by the thunder. Nor does one move about much. Small concerns are rebuked in such a place. One climbs and contemplates.

A hawk sails past, fan-tailed, and the panorama extended beneath the bird's eye epitomizes the whole domain of desert, mesa and mountain. Over it arches a dome resembling in color the blue of the beautiful copper ore called azurite, while from near its apex beats down the transcendent splendor of noonday from the sun's unmuffled disk.

For one who has eyes to see and goes not in haste, the desert has always the lure of a beautiful strangeness. Nothing about it is conventional. In a long rainy spell which elsewhere brightens grass and freshens the landscape, the waste glooms in abject greyness. Only in vibrant, delirious sunlight does it seem completely itself.

Out on the elevated plains nearly a mile in air, the cloud ceiling occasionally descends to earth. At such times great masses of vapor drag their inert, ragged forms across the mountains and trail across the plain as a vertical curtain hanging from the sky—a weirdly chaotic spectacle. Inside the cloud there may be mist or drizzling rain, or when it drifts aside, the peak in the rear of it may have grown hoary with new snow.

Snow along the desert is fantastic, swirling among the yuccas and cacti, alighting upon sands and encrusting alkali. The purposes of nature seem to have gone cross-wise.

On a morning when leaden clouds curtained the eastern light, I saw a potent beam burst through and search out a section of the plain which, distorted by the air, as by a faulty lens, seemed fairly to stand on edge. The dead winter grass, kindling into brightness, resembled an immense buff tapestry depending from the sky, and the weirdness of the spectacle suggested doubts as to what constitutes reality.

The chiefest loveliness remains forever distant from the beholder. Thorn and gravel near at hand are too insistently realistic, but effects of colored sunlight viewed through leagues of colored air claim the rank of sheer splendor. The finest spectacle in nature is, therefore, a remote desert mountain glorified in the sunset—not one with green forested slopes but with bare chags of tinted stone.

Bright angles jut forth from the mountain, their eastern profiles sinking into amethyst obscurity. A cloud intervenes, the light changes. A red reflection tinges the lilac crags. On the sloping planes of sand lies a graded illumination like candle light falling on blank walls. There come, riding by two silent men—the border patrol following a smuggler's track—and their horses' feet lift the sand in little shining splashes. Down toward the edge of the mesquite, low red beams search out the doorways and corners of a ruined adobe.

In the mystery of twilight, poetic softness veils the desolation, and coolness comes with velvet touch. The yuccas vibrate no longer, and the sands, awaiting tomorrow's wind lie still. All shadows, all reflections, have gone, only the west remains luminous green and silver. Across the irregular desert pattern of light and dark something moves rimly across the distance—a coyote.—Ross Calvin, Ph. D., in "The Sky Determines."

Politically Speaking

By GEORGE E. HELMER

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SACRAMENTO, April 30 —(UP)—Recalling a state official in California is almost an impossibility unless the person has incurred so much enmity that even large cash expenditures could not persuade a majority of the voters to support him.

Under state law, if a recall election is held and the incumbent is not recalled, he must be repaid from the state treasury any money legally expended by him in his campaign to retain his office. And there is no limitation placed on the expenditures.

In other words, the incumbent could spend millions, if necessary, to hold his job, and if he won, the state would have to repay him.

The victim of a recall drive could do something like this, for instance: visit newspapers and offer to purchase a full page of advertising daily for two months if the paper wished to take a chance on the outcome. "If I win, you'll be paid; if I lose, you won't." And he could make the same offer for the printing of pamphlets and banners; the use of billboards, motion pictures and radio. He could spread the word around that each person voting for him would receive $5 or $100, if he won. Generally, if he could find enough willing to take a chance on collecting afterward, he could engineer the most elaborate campaign imaginable.

Against that sort of opposition, a recall election probably would fail because opposing candidates could not hope to organize similar campaigns. And if more than half the people voting on the recall proposal alone marked the ballot "No," the state would have to pay all the bills of the incumbent.

Reports reaching the capitol indicated the latest recall threat against Gov. Frank F. Merriam was making headway in Southern California. Petition circulators receive four cents for each signature they obtain. No one had been found here, however, who has seen the petition which, according to law, must set forth the cause for the desired removal.

Among the unconfirmed rumors were that Lt. Gov. George J. Hatfield and former Director of Agriculture Dudley Moulton would be candidates opposing Merriam, should the petitions ever be qualified and an election called.

The petitions must have 279,567 signatures of registered voters before they may be certified. Officials in the secretary of state's office doubted whether that many signatures could be obtained, even at four cents apiece.

Governor Merriam's last-minute reprieve of Alexander MacKay and Joseph Kristy, participants in the bloody San Quentin prison break of January, 1935, amazed people in the capitol. Most of the state workers seemed to agree it was the only courteous thing to be done, since the British government had requested it, but feeling here was pretty high because two members of the parole board were wounded and Warden James B. Holohan was beaten unmercifully during the break. No desire for leniency was evident.

A newsboy reported that three or four customers remarked: "What's England trying to do, run this country?" when they saw the headlines.

The controversy over liquor stamps has become one of the most talked-about arguments in the capitol. Finance Director A. E. Stockburger, informed that the equalization board had again chosen a high bidder and out-of-state firm for the award indicated he would hold up the contract indefinitely, or refuse approval again.

"It certainly warrants a thorough investigation," he remarked.

On a par with the liquor stamp fight was the personnel board's troubles as a result of oral examinations for liquor control officers, conducted by two members of the board. The attorney general said the examinations were illegal, but that did not prevent the administration's board members from sticking to the original classification list and voting against Controller Ray L. Riley's motion to set aside the list and hold new orals.

A board decision to set aside the orals would have been a direct slap at E. H. Christian, chairman, and Arthur Brown, the members who conducted the examinations. And the administration, in control of the

Registration Fees Bring In Large Return

SACRAMENTO April 30 —(UP)—The $3 automobile registration fee collected in California returned $5,835,836 for highway construction and maintenance in 1935, records of the motor vehicle department revealed.

Sixty-five per cent of the fees go into highways, the remainder being used to finance the department and the state highway patrol.

TAHOE REGION NEWS

By Swannee

Renaldo Vanni, about 30, former Tahoe resident and younger brother of Carlo Vanni, was killed almost instantly on Wednesday night while returning home from work in San Francisco. Although having only three blocks to walk to his home he was struck by a speeding automobile when he attempted to cross the busy Bayshore Highway. The machine skidded 40 feet before the driver could bring it to a stop. Funeral services were held in San Francisco. Besides Carlo, a brother Pedro, his mother and a wife survive.

Poor little 'Skippy,' pet bull pup of the Carl Becholdt family of Tahoe Inn is no more! On Thursday morning early the little fellow was struck by an automobile at the foot of the short hill near the commons where he was discovered by Si Pierson. His young master, Billie, is inconsolable.

Mrs. Opal Van Luven is now assisting Mrs. H. H. Hull on the Tahoe City telephone switch board where wires are already humming with summer activity.

Everett Summers, brother of Mrs. Van Luven, his wife and little son and Mrs. Laura Caldwell of Yosemite were visitors at the Van Luven home over the week end.

On Friday Mrs. Ethel Vernon invited members of the local literary club to be her guests at a delightful picnic luncheon at Sandy Beach. The only available members Mrs. Amelia Wehrman and Mrs. Eleanor Swanson attended, enjoying the outing and acquiring their first coat of summer tan.

The Vernon's Gift Shop is now open for the summer season.

Among those obtaining their new liquor licenses for the 1936 season are Mr. and Mrs. Ted Marshall who operate Marshall's Inn on the Truckee-Tahoe highway near town. A number of alterations have been made recently with the bar having been moved more conveniently to the front corner of the dining room.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bacchi of Bacchi's Italian Restaurant also received their new license and have also made extensive improvements including the installation by Alex Charles, Tahoe stonemason, of an artistic, rock fireplace in one corner of the remodeled dining room. New drapes and linoleum impart cheer to the spacious interior.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Comstock arrived at Brockway Hotel on the 24th to make preparations for the opening of their popular hostelry for the summer season.

Mrs. Florence Topp returned to her home in Homewood last week after having visited friends in San Jose, Modesto, Vallejo, Los Gatos and San Francisco.

Harry Johanson of the Mein estate is spending several days in San Francisco on business.

Mrs. H. H. Hull enjoyed a motor trip to San Francisco on Friday where she visited with relatives for several days before returning home.

John Knox returned to his business property in Tahoe Park on Friday after having spent the winter months in Napa. Mr. Knox confirmed reports of the severe illness which carried him to death's door several months ago, when his physicians despaired of his life. He has recovered his health and looks forward to a busy season for the grocery, lunch counter, service station and cabins.

One of the most novel and entertaining parties ever attempted on the lake was given on Thursday evening, April 16 by members of the H and W Club of Meeks' Bay district in the long rustic dining room of that popular resort. On that evening the club, a philanthropic organization, became just nine months old. It was first inaugurated to spread cheer among the less fortunate at Christmas time in their vicinity, when baskets containing turkey and all the accompanying trimmings, and gifts for the children were delivered. Since it's inception however other worthy activities have prompted the club to greater effort. A desire to increase the scope of territory embraced in its benefits until now the entire lake area receives charitable consideration.

Thursday night was called "Parcel Post Night," one end of the long room being equipped as a postoffice. Surrounding the circular window opening were listed the entire number of cities and towns from which the 85 numbered packages had been sent by friends of H and W Club members. They represented many states in the union. Each guest was asked to draw a number at the door as he entered and in this rotation he found himself in line. Upon reaching the window Postmaster Captain Jack Hale of Meeks' Bay, handed him, for a modest sum, the package he chose from the board and that selection was marked off. The customers wishing to make another purchase then went to the end of the line, this procedure continuing until all articles were sold out. Over $30.00 was reported to have been made during the evening of hilarious entertainment. This sum will be placed in the treasury of the club for charitable work.

Amusing indeed, were some of the gifts thus blindly purchased and howls of laughter rose as the night's comedy unfolded itself. Cecil Bowman of the Homewood telephone office cautiously opening his gaily wrapped "mystery" to shake out a lady's beribboned, pink nightgown, which his wife promptly appropriated; little Patty Schmidt of Pomin's, incongruously choosing a package containing a popular brand of cigarettes, which we fancy found their way into her Daddy's pockets; A. M. Anderson of Tahoe City, blushing a vivid crimson as he laughingly unrolled for himself a silver, hand-painted powder compact; C. W. Vernon, modestly unfurling a bright bordered bath towel, upon which he vows to embroider his initials; Bob Wales of Tahoma disporting in his beruffled kitchen apron; Charlie Winslow beaming at the elaborate flower vase which was his lot, maneuvered on either end by a Cupid, which would do much to cheer the solemnity of his bachelor apartments. Many and varied were the type of gifts imported, including dainty handmade handkerchiefs from far off Maine, silk stockings, hand embroidered pot holders and kitchen towels, bureau scarfs and tablecloths, perfumed soaps, kitchen ware of all descriptions and even luscious jelly from the state of Washington. So keen was the thirst of curiosity for buying "sight unseen" we believe the club could have sold as many packages again as they had on hand.

There next followed a series of 20 games of Bingo, one long table stretched the length of the spacious dining room seated with players. Miss Rosalee Heller was "caller" and Rad Kiefer was "repeat man." Your correspondent got away to an early load and was lucky enough to maintain it to the exciting finish. Grand total of three games out of the 20 brought the first prize of a beautiful bath set. First prize among the men was eventually won by Charlie Winslow after a spirited play-off between three tied contestants, Mr. Winslow Ed Pitts of Truckee and Stewart Tapley of Tahoma. Homer Palmer won the men's consolation and Miss Lillian Vernon the ladies.

Delicious homemade cakes and hot coffee were served at the conclusion of the most enjoyable evening. Among those who participated in the novel festivities were Mr. and Mrs. William Schmidt and daughter Patty, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Vernon and daughters Lillian and Florence, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heller and daughter Rosalee, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hollenbeck of Meeks' Bay, Mr. and Mrs. John Thornton, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pitts and Mrs. Elizabeth Bavier of Truckee, Millard Hollenbeck and son Donald, Captain and Mrs. Jack Hale and son Frank, Charles Winslow, Harry Johanson, Bob Wales of Tahoma, Rad Kiefer of Drum's, Captain Hans Hansen of Rubicon Lodge, Jack Smith of San Francisco, L. G. Baker of Meeks' Bay, Mr. and Mrs. Ray McWilliams of Rubicon Park, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bowman and son Kenneth, Mrs. W. H. Bowman all of Homewood, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Palmer and two children of Meeks' Bay Vista, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Marshall, Howard Bernard, Stewart Tapley of Tahoma and Mrs. Eleanor Swanson.

The business district of Lake Forest will take on added life next week when Mrs. Roy Vance and Miss Urith Johnson of Sacramento take over the lease of Mrs. Etta Tyler's grocery store and service station. The new proprietresses plan a number of modern improvements among which will be the erection of a large Neon electric sign over their doorway announcing the opening of the Lake Forest Home Lunch. The new business enterprise should be a welcome addition to residents of this out-of-town district. Mr. Vance will be in charge of the service station.

Watch these columns next week for the opening announcement of the Lake Forest Home Lunch. The children of the Tahoe elementary grades are planning their annual motor excursion which will take place over the coming week end, weather permitting. The trip this year will include the witnessing of the Music Festival at Auburn during which all the children from the 5th grades up will join in united song. The destination of the group will be a large ranch near Chico where provisions are being made to care for the excursionists under the huge oak trees. Their teacher Mrs. Myrtle Gallinger and some of the mothers will accompany the youngsters as chaperones. Tahoe business men are lending their friendly cooperation by loaning trucks and drivers as means of transportation, which is their annual custom.

Harry Johanson returned home from San Francisco on Tuesday only to find that his frolicsome huskies had been indulging on the forbidden luxury of Mr. Lambert's chickens, which they enjoyed during Monday night.

A northwester blew rain into Tahoe on Monday and Tuesday, showers continuing intermittently through both days. The snow continued to disappear rapidly with the continued sunny weather of the past week. High rushing creeks are emptying their muddy waters into the lake which stands now at 6224.42. On Tuesday rain intermingled with slushy snow fell most of the day in the lowlands with snow at high altitudes. At least another day of storm is anticipated.

Fishermen of the Tahoe and Truckee region are busy this week getting out the old rods and reels preparatory to opening day May 1st. Due to misunderstanding of the fish and game laws perhaps a few words to local fishermen would be in order. Many are of the opinion that Lake Tahoe and its tributaries are open on May 1st. This is not so. Only the lake is open and Donner Lake and the Truckee River and its tributaries, some of the principal ones being Deer Creek, Bear Creek, Donner Creek, Martis Creek, Prosser Creek, Little Truckee, Juniper Creek, Cold Stream and Sagehen. The latter situated in back of Hobart Mills is being reopened this year after having been closed for six years. The tributaries of Lake Tahoe and the other lakes of the Truckee and Tahoe region are not open until May 30th this year.

Slim Ellert of the Truckee Sport Shop advises anglers who plan to turn out for opening day to bring along plenty of angle and grub worms and salmon eggs, as the waters are high and muddy and fly fishing will be nil until the streams clear up later on. A plentiful supply of rainbow and Loch-Leven should be available.

Warning is again voiced against baiting with trout spawn, which is unlawful since the new law was passed last May prohibiting it, a minimum fine of $25 being the penalty for those caught and found guilty. This law, fathered by Senator Jerrold Sewell, was brought about at the instigation of members of the Truckee River Sportsman's Association.

W. W. Crone of Tahoe City passed away at his home in Palm Springs on Saturday night, April 25th, following a heart attack.

Mr. and Mrs. Crone have been residents of Tahoe City for the past six years where they have operated the Squirrel House. For the past two years they have spent the winter months in Palm Springs.

Mr. Crone is survived by his wife, Ethel Crone and two daughters, Sarah Crone and Mrs. Tom Pierce and one grandson.

Funeral services were held in Banning.

In all Christian Science Churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., a Lesson-Sermon will be read Sunday, May 3, on the subject "Everlasting Punishment."

The Golden Text will be: "There is no peace, saith the Lord, unto the wicked" (Isaiah 48:22). Bible selections will include the following passage from Rev. 12:7,9: "And there was war in heaven: Michael and his angels fought against the dragon; and the dragon fought and his angels. And the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world: he was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him."

Passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included, which read as follows: "The great red dragon symbolizes a lie,—the belief that substances, life, and intelligence can be material. This dragon stands for the sum total of human error. The Revelator lifts the veil from this embodiment of all evil, and beholds its awful character; but he also sees the nothingness of evil and the allness of God" (p. 563).

HISTORIC BRIDGE TO BE ABANDONED

SACRAMENTO, April 30—(UP)—The famous old Jersey bridge has retained its historical value as the site of the lynching of the only woman ever hanged in California, but it has lost its utilitarian honors in Downieville.

Highway progress, marching through the old mining town in Sierra county, left in its wake a new, reinforced concrete bridge which shunts Nevada City-Downieville traffic away from the one-lane, wooden structure that was erected over the north fork of the north Yuba river in 1850.

For 85 years, Jersey bridge has been pointed out to tourists as a landmark—the spot where on July 5, 1851, after an hilarious Fourth of July celebration, a Mexican woman, known only as Juanita, was hanged for the killing of Jack Cannon, a popular citizen of the gold camp.

It was partially destroyed by a flood in the early 80's, but the people of Downieville always regarded it as a connecting link with the romantic, turbulent past of that section.

The lynching of Juanita aroused a storm of protest in 1851, and the controversy raged for many years, becoming a political issue because of the presence at the lynching of John B. Weller, afterward governor of California.

The official history of Plumas, Lassen and Sierra counties describes the Independence day celebration at Downieville in 1851, then goes on to relate:

"Later in the night these jolly spirits became mischievous, and some of the rougher sort went around breaking open doors of houses, among others the domicile of the ill-fated Juanita. In the crowd was Jack Cannon, a Scotchman of magnificent physical strength and herculean proportions. When the hilarious band broke up at a very early hour, Cannon went back to the Mexican house. His purpose in returning thither is, of course, unknown."

Cannon supposedly entered into an argument with Juanita and a Mexican companion, whereupon Juanita "drew a knife from the folds of her dress and stabbed Cannon to the heart."

A judge and jury were appointed. A young lawyer who pleaded for Juanita was manhandled by the mob. The woman was found guilty. She was given one hour to prepare for death.

"When her hour was up, she was called forth and passed fearlessly down the street, chatting and smiling with as much ease as anyone," the history says.

"From the top of the Jersey bridge a rope dangled over the side, while beneath it a timber six inches wide was lashed to the bridge and swung out above the stream. Three thousand excited spectators were present.

"On the plank Juanita stood, quietly surveying the crowd. She took the rope in her own hands, placed it about her neck and adjusted it beneath her beautiful black hair with her own fingers. A white handkerchief was thrown over her face, her hands tied behind her, and at each end of the plank, ax in hand, stood a man ready to cut the lashings. Another fired a pistol as a signal, and the axes fell. She dropped three or four feet, meeting death with scarcely a struggle."

New Tax Moratorium Now Being Planned

SACRAMENTO, April 30—(UP)—Reinactment of the moratorium providing for payment of delinquent taxes on a 10-year plan is being considered by state officials as a means of returning additional thousands of pieces of property back to city, county and district tax rolls.

The last act, passed by the 1935 legislature, became void April 20, the deadline set after which the deferred payment plan of retiring delinquent assessments was no longer effective.

Under terms of the measure it was possible for all real estate transferred to the state for non-payment of taxes to be redeemed through the payment of current taxes and 10 per cent of the delinquency total. The remainder of the delinquent amount could be paid in equal annual installments over a 10-year period without penalty, although a 7 per cent interest payment was required.

By means of the moratorium, state officials estimated that more than 100,000 pieces of real property had been returned to tax rolls by giving owners an opportunity to spread their delinquent payments over several years. Improved conditions, since the plan was put into operation, have permitted owners to make all their payments rather than take full advantage of the time extension.

While it was pointed out that governmental units could not continue indefinitely the 10-payment plan, an additional extension of from 60 to 90 days was believed desirable.

Should the special session of the legislature be called this year, it was considered likely the Governor would be asked to include the proposal in the call.

Even if delayed until the next regular legislative session in 1937, another short extension, or reenactment, might be considered as a means of bringing more property back on a taxable basis.

Despite the large number of persons who took advantage of the act, officials said that the percentage unable to make payments was "comparatively small."

Bay Bridge Impossible Without Use of Electricity

SACRAMENTO, April 30—(UP)—Pioneers who visualized a bridge connecting San Francisco with Oakland may not have realized it, but construction of the bridge which now is being rushed to completion would have been impossible without electricity.

While thousands of commuters watched the daily progress of the world's largest span, Chief Engineer C. H. Purcell said little thought had been given by the layman to one element that has made the structure possible.

"Without electricity, the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge could not have been built," he said.

Almost before any thing else was done, an electric cable was laid across the floor of the bay. From this cable flowed the life blood of the bridge. It cost $50,000 to install and its connected load is in excess of 12,000 horsepower, sufficient to meet the domestic needs of a community of 50,000 persons.

The electric power supplied by the cable operated the pumps which were so necessary to the system of caissons used in laying the foundations of the piers; the giant hoists and derricks which swing tons of steel into place; welding equipment, concrete mixers, air compressors and other pieces of machinery used in the construction of the bridge. When the immense span is completed, the ordinary incandescent lamps following the curving lines of the catwalks will be replaced with modern sodium lighting to illuminate the two deck roadbeds. The new lights will penetrate fog and make the bridge safe for traffic despite the density of the fog which rolls in over the bay.

There has been considerable discussion of the possibility of lighting the suspension cables for decorative purposes, but under state plans only the roadways will be illuminated, and the towers will have warning lights for the guidance of aviators.

All of State's Counties Produce Gem Stones

SACRAMENTO, April 30—(UP)—Every one of California's 58 counties produces one or more of the quartz gem stones, according to Henry H. Symons, curator of the museum, state division of mines. "A wide diversity of stones under this general classification exist in California," Symons said. "Their occurrence has been noted from the Oregon line on the north to Mexico and the south and from Nevada to the Pacific."

"In recent years renewed interest in the collecting of minerals and stones suitable for polishing has been in evidence."

"New collectors began their search for raw material at known sources such as the beaches and deposits previously worked, but in most cases it was found that all choice specimens had been gathered long ago."

"The most resourceful since have extended their inquiries to new fields and some were rewarded by uncovering occurrences where extremely attractive material was found."
